AWARD

The Government of Goa, Daman and Diu, by its Order No. 28/38/82-ILD dated 27th September, 1982, has referred for the adjudication by this Tribunal of an industrial dispute between the above parties. The schedule annexed to the order of reference reads as follows:

"Whether the action of the management of M/s. Central Drug House, Margao Goa in terminating the services of Shri Ramrai E. Naik, Helper, w.e.f. 1-12-1981 is legal and justified?

If not, to what relief the said workman is entitled to?"

2. The case of the workman, as per his statement of claim, is that, he was employed in Margao by the employer from 2-1-1963 and his services were terminated w.e.f. 1-12-1981 without complying with the provisions of Section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, hereinafter called the Act. His pay at the time of his termination was Rs. 150/- per month. He has prayed that the termination being wrongful and illegal, he may be reinstated with full back wages and continuity of services or paid his legal dues, in case his services are not required by the employer.

2. The employer, in its written statement, has stated that M/s. Central Drug House, Margao (Party II) was a medical store owned and managed by its proprietor Shri Vaman M. Sardessai, who also owns and manages another medical store in the city of Panaji under the name and style of Drogaria Central. The workman was employed by the proprietor, initially at Panaji in the month of January 1962 and, subsequently, when the proprietor opened a shop in Margao under the name and style of Central Drug House, he was transferred to Margao as, by that time, he had gained some experience to work in a medical store. There he continued till September 1981 when the proprietor closed forever the Margao shop. Even after such closure he directed the workman to continue and remain in Margao for the collection of the outstanding dues and settlement of accounts of that establishment and told the workman that after the said settlement, he should report for work at the Panaji establishment. In view of the difficulties expressed by the workman, the proprietor even agreed to compensate the workman by partly paying him the additional expenses involved in travelling. The workman kept quiet to this proposition of the proprietor. The workman neither completed the accounts of the outstanding dues nor did he report for duties at Panaji, though repeatedly directed to do so. The proprietor had never verbally or in writing told the workman that his services stood terminated with the closure of the Margao establishment. He was instructed to report for duties at Panaji. The workman approached the Labour Commissioner's office seeking only monetary benefits and not reinstatement. During the conciliation proceedings before the Assistant Labour Commissioner, the proprietor put up his case that the workman refused to resume duties at Panaji, as this was not convenient to him and voluntarily left the services. The closure of the establishment at Margao is an undisputed fact and it cannot be a subject matter of any industrial dispute and, as such, the reference itself will be null and void. In any case, such an action cannot be held to be illegal or unjust.

3. In his rejoinder, the workman has stated, inter alia, that at no time he was employed in Drogaria Central at Panaji but always in the Central Drug House at Margao. He has further stated that he has submitted the full accounts of the Margao establishment and soon after his services were terminated.

4. Issues were framed and, amongst them, there is one pertaining to the maintainability of the order of reference, which, being preliminary, will be taken up first.

The order of reference proceeds on the basis of the termination of the services of the workman by the employer, while the real controversy between the parties is whether it is the employer who terminated the services of the workman, as contended by the workman, or it is the workman who left the job voluntarily because he did not want to accept his transfer to the Panaji establishment, as contended by the employer. That this is the subject matter of controversy between the parties is clear from the failure report Exh W-1 submitted by the Conciliation Officer to the Government. Nevertheless, the Government, without applying its mind has referred to the Tribunal only one side of the dispute i.e. the stand taken by the workman and has not referred at all to the other side i.e. the stand taken by the employer.

5. As this Tribunal cannot travel beyond the terms of reference, the stand taken by the employer regarding the workman having given up the job cannot be taken into consideration by the Tribunal, which would be most unfair to the employer.

6. In view of what has been stated above, I hold that this reference is bad in law and not maintainable for non application of mind by the Government to the real issues involved in the controversy and without further reasons, which are not called for, I dismiss the same with no order as to costs.
